for National and Global Health Law

Georgetown Law • Georgetown Nursing & Health Studies

cordially invites you to a presentation

WITH

DR. EZEKIEL J. EMANUEL, SPECIAL ADVISOR ON HEALTH POLICY TO THE DIRECTOR OF THE WHITE HOUSE OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET

Ezekiel J. Emanuel, the Chair of the Clinical Center Department of Bioethics at the National Institutes of Health, is currently serving as a Special Advisor on Health Policy to the Director of the White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB). He is also a breast oncologist and author.

For the last decade, Dr. Emanuel has worked on global health issues, especially related to malaria and HIV/AIDS, and has just returned from a two-week trip to Senegal, Ethiopia, and Mozambique where he visited a variety of local health projects and programs. He has trained researchers in developing countries on the ethics of clinical research and conducted numerous studies of ethical issues related to research in developing countries. In his role at OMB, Dr. Emanuel has been involved in developing President Obama's Global Health Initiative.

He has received numerous awards including election to the Institute of Medicine (IOM) of the National Academy of Science and the Association of American Physicians. After completing Amherst College, Dr. Emanuel received an M.Sc. in Biochemistry from Oxford University, and then attended Harvard University where he earned his M.D. from the medical school and a Ph.D. in political philosophy.

This presentation is a part of the O'Neill Institute's fall colloquium, National and Global Health Law. The event is free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served.
