John Coggon LLB PhD is a British Academy postdoctoral fellow in the School of Law, University of Manchester. His fellowship sponsors a three year project entitled "Making Laws on Public Health: Regulation of Responsibilities and Freedoms," the principal output from which will be a published monograph considering the legal, moral, and political dimensions of practical public health issues. Dr Coggon has published papers in leading bioethics, law, and medicine journals, including the Annals of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, the British Medical Journal, the Cambridge Law Journal, the Journal of Medical Ethics, Health Care Analysis, Legal Studies, the Medical Law Review, and Ratio Juris. He has published analyses specifically of public health issues in the Cambridge Quarterly of Healthcare Ethics, the Journal of Medical Ethics, and the Medical Law Review, and has spoken about public health law and ethics at leading national and international conferences.
